Description of Change

Detailed Description of Change: The IEC 60950-1, the safety standard for Information Technology Equipment and Audio/Video Equipment, is not valid anymore. For this reason, Advantech routers were certified by the UL company (UL file E487720) according to the new standard of IEC 62368-1.

Affected products now meet the following standards:

- IEC 62368-1:2014 + A11:2017
- IEC 62368-1:2018

Anticipated impact on Fit, Form, and Function: There is no impact on the product itself. The only product change was made on the product label. Figure 1 shows a label for the device included in the new E487720 UL file. Figure 2 shows a label for the device included in the new E487720 UL file together with the existing E486108 UL file. The certification-related information was updated in product manuals and legislative documents as well.
